Dear Title Busulwa

GRANT OF ASYLUM

You have been recognised as a refugee as defined by the 1951 Geneva Convention relating to the Status of Refugees and its Protocol and have been granted asylum in accordance with the Immigration Rules. You have been granted indefinite leave to remain in the United Kingdom and this means that you are free to stay in this country permanently.

THIS LETTER IN ITSELF CONFERS NO LEAVE TO ENTER OR REMAIN IN THE UNITED KINGDOM AND DOES NOT CONSTITUTE PROOF OF YOUR STATUS.

Please find enclosed your Immigration Status Document. This has been endorsed with indefinite leave to remain in the United Kingdom. It is this endorsement that constitutes proof of your immigration status in the United Kingdom.

NATIONAL ASYLUM SUPPORT SERVICE (NASS)

If you are currently in receipt of NASS support, you remain eligible to receive it for a further 28 days after the Secretary of State notifies you of his decision, which is deemed to be 2 days after the determination of your asylum claim. This means that your support will cease 30 days from 11 March 2005. You should note that there is no right of appeal under section 103 of the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999 to the Asylum Support Adjudicator against this decision.

ENTITLEMENTS

You are free to take a job and do not need the permission of any Government Department before doing so. You are free to use the National Health Service and the social services, and other services provided by local authorities as you need them.

REPORTING RESTRICTIONS

If you have been granted temporary admission to the United Kingdom subject to a requirement to report to a reporting centre or police station, that temporary admission and any reporting restrictions are hereby cancelled. You need no longer report

TRAVEL ABROAD

You may travel out of the Common Travel Area any number of times during the validity of the leave you have been granted. The Common Travel Area comprises the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, the Isle of Man and the Republic of Ireland. On your return, you will be re-admitted to the United Kingdom without having to obtain fresh leave to enter unless

- you have been absent from the United Kingdom for a continuous period of more than two years, or
- you are seeking admission in a different capacity from the one in which this leave has been granted.

Nevertheless, an investigation into your circumstances may be carried out upon your return to the United Kingdom, in order to determine whether or not the leave you have been granted should be revoked.

Using your national passport to travel outside the United Kingdom or returning to your country of origin may result in the loss of your refugee status and could lead to the revocation of your indefinite leave to remain in the United Kingdom. If you want to travel abroad you should apply for a Refugee Convention Travel Document from the Travel Document Section, Immigration and Nationality Directorate, Lunar House, 40 Wellesley Road, Croydon, CR9 2BY (telephone 0870 241 0645). If you leave the United Kingdom with a Refugee Convention Travel Document, you will be allowed back into the country at any time while it is still valid, subject to the above.

DEPENDANTS

If you are the principal sponsor and you are married and have children under the age of 18, the leave to remain you have been granted entitles your spouse and minor children (who formed part of the family unit prior to you leaving your country of origin and seeking asylum) to join you in the United Kingdom. It is current Home Office policy that the sponsor is not expected to meet the normal support and accommodation requirements of the Immigration Rules. If your spouse and minor children wish to apply for family reunion, they will need to approach a British Embassy, High Commission or Consulate abroad to make an application for entry clearance to the United Kingdom. Dependants are required to make their application for family reunion before travelling to the United Kingdom.

CAUTION

You should understand, however, that you may not be allowed to remain in the United Kingdom if, during your stay, you take part in any criminal activities or activities such as support for or encouragement of terrorist organisations, or you otherwise endanger national security or public order. You may also not be allowed to remain in the United Kingdom if it is decided for some other reason that your presence here is not conducive to the public good.

Yours sincerely

Mr O Ademiju
